(2)	Schallenberg claims that Kallenberg always showed great interest in the daily report which was compiled by Art F. and the ILL Art. This was a summary of the most important happenings during the day, but which had not yet been collected. The summary was originally intended to be for purely internal purposes and to give the central office a sort of preview of the general situation. The Wehrmachtchef reported and later on Hitler himself showed an interest in this uncollected summary with the result that Schallenberg had it expanded to a complete account. Kallenberg apparently never really understood its purpose, and with these uncollected reports, he started to carry out policies, presumably he had sections which he blamed on this "idiotic service". Every fortnight or thereabouts the central office compiled a summary of all important political reports of the Wehrmachtchef which were then written up by Dr. Schallenberg in consultation with Kallenberg. These were the so-called report reports. The whole object of these reports was an attempt to alter the entire German foreign policy and an alteration in internal politics also was hinted at. RECEIVED Feb 2, 1943
